

On January 3, 2008 the McGrath SeniorNet Learning Center in Aiken, SC held a Ribbon Cutting Ceremony to start 2008. The University of South Carolina at Aiken, the Center's host, upgraded an old police station into a wonderful classroom. Jim Jordy, the coordinator, served as an excellent Master of Ceremonies for the event. They also had an excellent turn out for their Open House on January 7. The Center is in its eighth year of teaching Seniors about computers.

Local dignitaries and volunteers attended the grand opening of the new SeniorNet Learning Center at USC Aiken, including (from left) Wayne Rickman, Bill Hayes, Jim Ward, Sue Charlesworth, Jim Jordy, Rep. Skipper Perry, Sen. Greg Ryberg, Mayor Fred Cavanaugh, USCA Chancellor Tom Hallman and Mary Anne Cavanaugh (USCA SeniorNet Representative).

Read the article in the Aiken Standard .

Aiken Learning Center website

List of all SeniorNet Learning Centers