

SeniorNet Introduces a New Series of Skill Courses

Since 1986 SeniorNet Learning Centers have made a difference to several million seniors by providing a variety of courses on a variety of computer related topics.

SeniorNet Learning Centers provide training designed to develop computer skills of people in need. People in need include our seniors, retiring adults, returning veterans, the unemployed and the employed who would like to expand their computer knowledge.

We pride ourselves on an instruction model that provides small class environment, well-illustrated self-help manuals plus hands-on learning by volunteer instructors and coaches... volunteers who make a difference in their communities.

Today our Learning Centers are dealing with the ever expanding field of technology and SeniorNet headquarters is preparing to assist them in meeting that challenge.

Beginning this spring and throughout the coming months, the SeniorNet Curriculum Development team will provide our Learning Centers with a series of intermediate and advanced level "Skill Courses"... workshops and hands-on short courses that focus on topics like Facebook, Twitter, iPad Basics, Creating a Personal Web Page, Home Networking, Disk Management, Disk Maintenance and Repair, and specialized courses on managing Windows 7 and Windows 8.

Check with your local SeniorNet Learning Center for their plans to schedule Skill Courses designed to expand your computer knowledge.

SeniorNet... because we care!

Hank Clemente
SeniorNet Director of Curriculum Development

